

Defense Technical Information Center

8725 John J. Kingman Road, Suite 0944
Ft. Belvoir, VA 22060-6218

The Defense Technical Information Center (DTIC®) Announces: FREE Training 29 June 2010 for 2010 ALA Attendees and Other Information Professionals

Defense Scientific and Technical Information: What is it? Where is it? How do I get it?

What: Department of Defense Scientific and Technical Information

Where: Defense Technical Information Center, Fort Belvoir, Virginia. Need transportation? No problem. DTIC will provide transportation from the Franconia-Springfield Metro Station.

When: June 29, 2010; 0900-1500

Why: Increase knowledge of scientific and technical topics, efforts, and related topics sponsored/funded by DoD

How: Training, registering for DTIC services, and accessing electronic resources

Who: Anyone in the Federal/Defense and their contractor communities

Cost: Free

Searching DTIC and DoD Resources: What, Where and How?

Do you need access to defense research information? Through PowerPoint presentations with hands-on experience, our training presents resources and tools to identify and retrieve information from DTIC's unique collections. Learn strategies and techniques to retrieve information from more than 2,000,000 Technical Reports, 308,000 project summaries of on-going and completed research, plus 172,000 Independent Research and Development industry reports. Other resources include budget information and data, specialized IAC information, and commercial resources available with DTIC registration.

Key Take-Aways:

- Identify Defense Research Development Test and Evaluation (RDT&E) information resources
- Learn how to retrieve information from the core DTIC databases
- Understand DoD document markings including classification and distribution limitations
- Learn how to order reports and search results in bibliographies

DTIC is offering this special free one-day class June 29, 2010 at our Fort Belvoir Headquarters.

For more course information contact: training@dtic.mil or call (703) 767-8224/DSN427-8224 or (703) 767-7039/DSN 427-7039.